

Katerina Polutina

katrinpolly@gmail.com

Ekaterina is a postgraduate student of the department of Ceramics and Refractories, faculty "Institute of hightemperature materials and technologies" of Mendeleyev University of Chemical Technology of Russia.

She graduated with honors from training at the MUCTR Center for Language Education specialty "Translator in the field of professional communication".

Her scientific work is devoted to the elaboration of bioceramic materials for bones surgery.

Katerina enjoys photography, computer graphics and cooking.